Please do not enact this rule. I've educated myself and using options can increase my retirement return while reducing risk (for instance, selling puts on blue chip companies that are undervalued and selling covered calls). This rule will make properly funding a retirement very, very difficult. It will make people more dependent and more of a burden upon the state. This is patently unfair to treat grown adults as children. This rule coupled with a zero interest environment will ultimately makes us completely dependent upon the state for retirement. Please don't enact this rule.
